GERMAN NAVY LOSES THREE U-BOATS AND DESTROYER IN RAIDS

British and Russian Warships Beat Off Series of Assaults on Convoy Bound for Murmansk—H.M.S. Trinidad and Eclipse Damaged But No Cargo Ships Lost to Enemy

LONDON, March 31 (AP).—The British and Russian Navies, fighting together for the first time, have beaten off Germany's initial naval assault on the Allied Arctic supply line to Russia, sunk one German destroyer, damaged another and wrecked three Nazi U-boats, the Admiralty announced today.

The Moscow communique tonight added another Nazi submarine and a transport to the enemy craft destroyed in the Far Northern waters. The scene of these blows was the Barents Sea and might well have been delivered by part of the Soviet naval force taking part with the British forces in the combined attack.

The sleek new 8,000-ton British cruiser Trinidad fired and then destroyed a German destroyer with her six-inch guns. The Trinidad was in turn damaged, along with the destroyer Eclipse, but both the British warships reached the shelter of a Russian harbor under their own power and their casualties were few.

FOR NORTHERN SERVICE
The Russian ships participating in the action were believed to be destroyers of the 1,800-ton Stremelnik Class, especially built for service in northern waters.

The battle was believed to be only the forerunner of an intense and lengthy naval campaign for the right of way around North Cape and it was considered only a matter of time.

CANADIANS IN INVASION RAID

Victoria Airmen Among Flyers Taking Part in Attack on St. Nazaire

WITH THE R.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 31 (CP).—Canadian airmen with the Royal Air Force who dropped paratroops to raid the German radio-liaison station at Brunel had a straight bombing job in the spectacular British invasion raid last Saturday on St. Nazaire, it was learned tonight.

In the St. Nazaire attack instead of carrying paratroops the bellies of the Canadian Whitleys were filled with bombs, and the big bombers remained almost an hour over a hot target to provide a diversion, while naval units crept into the U-boat base and unloaded commando troops to engage the surprised Nazis.

OBSCURED BY CLOUDS
Sergeant Observer R. W. Taylor, a twenty-one-year-old Victoria airman, and Sergeant Air Gunner Tom Cattle, twenty, of Toronto, were in a Whitley from which bombs were dropped.

Taylor said the clouds were so thick he could not see the sea and land operations going on below him. There was considerable anti-aircraft fire, he said, and there were thick clouds from 4,000 to 10,000 feet, and "we had to go down low to bomb."

He related that his aircraft remained over the target area for fifty minutes and returned without being hit.

SAW LOTS OF FLAK
Flight Sergeant Harry Ties, twenty-one-year-old Hamilton, Ontario, wireless operator and air gunner, member of another Whitley crew, dismissed the raid with brief comment and said he saw "lots of flak and that was all."

Other Canadians in the raid were P. O. Fred Smith, of Vancouver; Flight Sergeant Rod Heather, of Toronto, both observers, and Sergeant W. D. Reynolds, of Cranby, Que., and Sergeant Art Shaw, of Paris, Ont., rear gunners. They were on the Brunel raid with Taylor, Cattle and Ties.

YEAR'S REVENUE IS HIGHEST IN HISTORY

LONDON, March 31 (CP).—Britain's revenue for the fiscal year ended today passed £2,000,000,000 ($3,600,000,000) for the first time in history.

The total was £2,074,037,210, which easily beat the budget estimate of £1,786,580,000 and exceeded the 1940-41 total by £668,190,210.

The year's expenditure was £4,773,604,355 against £3,867,245,870 in 1940-41.

British Position On Burma Front Growing Serious

Defenders Making Desperate Effort to Smash Japanese Road Blockades to Free Isolated Units—Lack of Scouting Planes Are Hampering Forces—Natives Are Aiding Enemy

NEW DELHI, India, March 31 (AP).—Lacking scouting planes and fighting in country teeming with hidden enemies, British armies guarding the direct route to the Central Burma oil fields were counter-attacking tonight in a desperate effort to smash Japanese road blockades, which have isolated British mobile units in the Irrawaddy Valley.

VICTORIA GIVEN SUM FOR A.R.P.

$4,800 Allotted to City From $50,000 Provincial Grant By Advisory Council

VANCOUVER, March 31 (CP).—The British Columbia Advisory Council on air raids precautions today allotted Victoria $4,800 a year to help meet administration costs. The money will be paid out of a $50,000 fund set up by the Provincial Government to assist in organization of A.R.P. units throughout the Province.

Vancouver was allotted $15,000 of the total $50,000 in the fund, $46,000 was allotted to municipalities today.

EXPRESSSES SATISFACTION
Mayor Andrew McGavin, commenting on the $4,800 A.R.P. grant for Victoria, expressed satisfaction at the allotment which, he pointed out, would amount to a $400-a-month subsidy.

Although the grant would not begin to meet the cost of new equipment such as the $10,000 two-way radio system, he said that the per capita rate was higher for Victoria than it would normally be because of the vulnerability of this area. The agreement to install the two-way radio was only reached in view of the wartime emergency, he added.

NATIVES SUPPORT ENEMY
Lieut.-General Sir Harold Alexander's communique announced that the British positions in the Promé area, some 140 miles south of Yenang-Yang, heart of the oil fields, were "considerably hindered by lack of air reconnaissance and by the fact that the local population as a whole appears actively in support of the enemy."

The present situation, as related officially, was this:

While British reconnaissance units in the Pandua area, some thirty miles southeast of Promé, were heavily engaged in difficult country and while another small British mobile force was moving south to clear out an enemy knot of resistance, the enemy in a flanking movement crossed the Irrawaddy southwest of Promé and attacked Shwed.

BANK RECORDS TELL THE TALE
Fund Established for Operation of Saboteurs and Spies in U.S.

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—The Daily News said tonight that "a duplicate of the German Government's roster of potential saboteurs and spies in the United States has been made available to Attorney-General Francis Biddle through bank records listing the names of buyers of some $30,000,000 worth of special German currency."

Before the United States entered the war, said The Daily News, German travel agency, steamship line representatives and others approached newly-naturalized German-Americans and German aliens and suggested they purchase stock, bonds, or reimmigration marks for as much as a 50 per cent discount.

The sales argument, said the paper, was that after the war the buyers could return to Germany and have nice nest eggs to live on, having purchased, for example, $2,000 worth of marks for $1,000.

If that argument didn't work, said the paper, the buyers could return to Germany and have nice nest eggs to live on, having purchased, for example, $2,000 worth of marks for $1,000.

From Europe Day by Day

THE TIMES, London
News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1942, by Southern Co.)
LONDON, March 31 (By Cable).—Australia has been able materially to increase her fighting strength as the result of difficulties and delays which have overtaken Japanese invasion forces in New Guinea and elsewhere, says The Times Canberra correspondent.

Not only has a goodly proportion of the Australian Imperial forces returned home but the United States has diverted to the Commonwealth men and supplies which were too late for Malaya and The Netherlands East Indies. The spearhead of the enemy's amphibian drive against New Guinea has been blunted by the Allies' counter-attacks which have enabled better defensive positions to be built up in the course of the past month.

In a single week the Japanese lost more than fifty airplanes. Because of their heavy aircraft casualties elsewhere they are now said to find it difficult to muster sufficient strength for continued heavy bombing of New Guinea, where floods have made creation of new landing grounds impossible at present.

The Stockholm Times correspondent reports a growing urgency on the Russian side to drive the Germans from Schlüsselburg and thus free Leningrad completely from the Germans, who realize the loss of this strong point would not only reopen the land route between Leningrad and the interior of Russia, but also enable the Red commander to roll up their whole defensive positions. Only special parachute troops have hitherto enabled the Nazis to hold on.

Berlin spokesmen do not conceal their chagrin that the Red fleet is still intact in the Baltic, where it holds its important Nazi warcraft that otherwise could be used elsewhere. The Germans allege Soviet troops near Kharkov are using great numbers of flame throwers.

Grim days lie ahead of the German people, says The Times correspondent on the German frontier. Food is diminishing and Goebbels finds it necessary to appeal for more and more "sacrifices." The frost during the past severe winter destroyed twelve million tons of potatoes.

Damage done by Royal Air Force raids on German towns mounts rapidly. Heavy bombers have been shown to be essential to any offensive and will certainly help lessen the blow which Germany plans to deliver against Russia and to hasten the day when no effort she can put forth will withstand the Allies' counter-offensive.

Irritation in Berlin against the Vichy Government continues to grow. Nazi spokesmen have told Japanese journalists that Frenchmen were delighted at the Royal Air Force's raids while the Vichy Government, it was angrily asserted, did nothing to foment anti-British feeling.

The Nazis hope that by returning Laval to the Petain Cabinet they may get an even tighter grip on Vichy politicians. Laval is believed still suffering from the bullet that nearly killed him last August.

VICHY FEELING NAZI PRESSURE
Observers in London See Petain Government Caught Between Two Forces

LONDON, March 31 (CP).—Informers in London tonight expressed the view that the Vichy Government has been put "on the spot" by internal differences and external pressure.

From the fog of Axis-inspired reports clouding the true purpose of discussions believed in progress in Vichy, observers say they believe they have sifted these certainties:

1. Pierre Laval, collaborationist former member of the Petain administration, has met with the aged marshal.

2. The Germans are renewing their pressure on Vichy.

3. The time may come soon when Vichy will be forced to get off the fence and declare for all-out collaboration or a definite rupture with Germany.

TAKING CAUTIOUS VIEW
Axis sources have been predicting sweeping changes within the Vichy Government if not the actual return of Laval to power. Informed British quarters take a serious but cautious view of these reports, which they consider may be part of the German scheme to impose pressure on Petain's Government.

However, they believe the Germans have been finding Vichy too independent for their liking and they would be pleased to have in a high position a scheming and astute adventurer whose Nazi leanings are well known.

Nazis Suffer Heavy Losses At Sevastopol

MOSCOW, April 1 (Wednesday) (AP).—The Germans have sacrificed 45,000 men in repeated efforts to capture Sevastopol in the Crimea, and now the Russians have launched their own counter-offensive there, Tass said today in a Sevastopol dispatch.

The agency said the Germans had "hurled into action the units reserved for their much-advertised Spring offensive, but these also have been ground into the dust by the Red Army."

MAY CALL MEN OF CATEGORY B

Ottawa Considering Summoning Second-Class Recruits for Reserve Army

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP).—Calling up of category "B" men under the National Resources Mobilization Act may be resumed, it is understood here.

For the past year only category "A" men have been called for compulsory military training and subsequent home service, but prior to that men in both category "B" and category "C" were subject to call for a time.

If the decision to resume the calling of "B" category men is taken—and suggestions along that line have been considered—several thousand men who have been called up for medical examination and rejected as not measuring up to the "A" standard may be recalled.

Although, since the compulsory system went into effect in 1940, some 120,000 men have been called up and accepted by the army as physically fit. This total, of course, includes a large number of "thirty-day men," those called up for thirty days' training in the first few months of operation of the compulsory plan. They were permitted to return to civilian life on completion of their short training period but were enrolled in the reserve army.

A number have been called since for further training and then service in the Canada for the duration of the war.

Category "B" men, it is understood, are fully satisfactory for all home defence duties in the army, but are not considered suitable for overseas service.

Outlook for Indian Acceptance of Plan For New Status Poor

Gandhi Advises All-India Congress Party to Reject Proposal—Many Political Leaders Unwilling to Leave Defences in British Hands

LONDON, April 1 (Wednesday) (CP).—A Daily Herald dispatch from New Delhi said today M. K. Gandhi had advised the All-India Congress Party to reject the British plan of Dominion status, but that the executive body had not yet decided upon the terms of its reply to Sir Stafford Cripps.

Gandhi was quoted as telling the Congress Working Committee yesterday that "the British plan for India was unworthy of Britain and it would be unworthy for India to accept it."

He regarded the proposal to give India dominion status after the war as bad, because it encouraged the minorities to become stubborn. The Daily Herald correspondent wrote.

The News-Chronicle's New Delhi dispatch said the Sikhs had rejected the proposal.

Troops and Supply on Move All Across the Continent

MELBOURNE, April 1 (Wednesday) (CP).—At least eighteen Japanese aircraft have been destroyed or damaged by United Nations' aerial attack on Japanese bases in Timor and New Guinea, and in the successful defence against counter raids on Australian bases during the last two days, it was announced today.

MELBOURNE, March 31 (AP).—New destructive bombings of Japanese bases on New Guinea and Timor were announced today as Australia streamlined her army command and Australian-American fighting men sped to battle stations throughout this threatened continent.

Australian communiques said that hangars were set afire and runways blasted at the Japanese-held airfield at Lae, on the northeast coast of New Guinea, and that probably six Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground at Kupang, Netherlands Timor.

An Allied plane reconnoitering over Salamaua, another Japanese-held point on New Guinea, was credited with probable destruction of all three of the Japanese Navy zero planes which attacked it.

ATTACK PORT DARWIN
The Japanese meanwhile sent seven bombers over Port Darwin, on the Australian mainland, both yesterday and today, attacking the airport both times. No damage was reported.

Reports from Darwin tonight said that anti-aircraft batteries had opened up there again after an alert had sounded and the area was blacked out, thus indicating the return of Japanese night raiders.

The Allied attacks yesterday were hampered by bad weather, but were reported.

SAYS BULGARIA GIVING TROOPS

King Boris Reported to Have Promised 200,000 Men For Russian Front

BERNE, March 31 (AP).—German circles claimed tonight King Boris of Bulgaria has promised 200,000 Bulgarian troops for the Russian front.

Word to this effect has been circulated widely since the Bulgarian monarch returned to Sofia last week from talks with high Nazis in Berlin.

The Berlin correspondent of The Journal de Geneve quoted German political quarters as saying the Bulgarian manpower would be turned over to Hitler in payment for territory gained by the Balkan state from Greece, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

German newspapers are giving splash play to Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Philov's recent anti-Bolshevik declaration and are claiming that "Bulgaria had ranged herself solidly with the Axis in this struggle."

TURKISH-BULGARIAN AMITY
The Nazi press also has stressed so-called Turkish-Bulgarian amity. There have been rumors in this connection that Germany guaranteed Bulgaria's frontiers in an effort to prevent the war's spread into new territory.

The Ankara correspondent of The Basel National Zeitung meanwhile reported Rumania and Hungary no longer were resisting German demands for more troops for the Eastern Front.

He said Rumania had agreed to send 250,000 fresh men immediately. Hungary was said to have been asked for 500,000, but the number she agreed to provide was not given.

BRITISH OFFICER IS AWARDED V.C.
Late Lieut. James J. B. Jackman Killed After Splendid Bravery Highest Decoration

LONDON, March 31 (CP).—Posthumous award of the Victoria Cross to Lieut. James J. B. Jackman for bravery during the British offensive in Libya in November was announced today.

The award was for Jackman's skillful leadership of a machine-gun company of Royal Northumberland Fusiliers in a tank attack November 28 on Ed Duda Ridge, near Tobruk.

In announcing the award, the London Gazette said Jackman enabled the tanks to hold the ridge after its capture by maneuvering his machine guns into protecting flank positions despite a withering enemy fire.

Jackman lost his life after his solidly-established tank had assured the success of the tank attack.

BATAAN HOSPITAL STRUCK BY BOMB
WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP).—Relentless hammering of Japanese bombers at the Manila harbor forts and American-Philippine line of Bataan Peninsula is continuing day and night with little apparent success, the United States War Department reported today.

There were a number of casualties yesterday when the enemy bombed a base hospital in Bataan, a war communique said, but damage to fortifications was slight. There have been no indications of the grim defenders, under Lieut.-General Jonathan M. Wainwright, were being "softened up" as the Japanese apparently hoped.

In describing the attack on the hospital, Wainwright reported it occurred at noon. The hospital was plainly marked and in the preceding six days of heavy bombardment enemy bombing planes had "carefully avoided" it.

Victoria Men Return After Serving With Canadians Overseas

Members of 1st Canadian Scottish and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Happy to Be Back—Will Undertake New Duties

TANNED and smiling, and looking exceedingly fit after many months of service overseas, more than 100 Victoria and Vancouver Island soldiers arrived in the city yesterday, frankly glad to be at home again.

Members of the 1st Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment, and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, they arrived on the early morning and afternoon boats from Vancouver and were met here by immediate members of their families, relatives and friends.

The men arrived in Canada recently as part of a large party of Canadian and British armed forces which made the Atlantic crossing from the British Isles. It is understood that many of the Canadian troops will undergo special courses in the Dominion, while others will take up duties with units in Canada, notably as instructors.

FAMILIAR SIGHTS WELCOME
Members of the Princess Patricia's, most of whom had been overseas for more than two years, were particularly enthusiastic in expressing their appreciation of familiar Victoria sights as they stepped off the boat.

"It's great to be back," smiled C.Q.M.S. J. C. Garth as he stood with his wife and small son in front of the C.P.R. wharf and surveyed the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel. "They treated us fine overseas, but, after all, there's nothing like home."

One of the first men to come ashore was Lieut. J. D. C. Holland, Esquimalt. He was enthusiastic about the reception accorded Canadians in England and Scotland. He returns after more than two years overseas. They had been strenuous years, he said, but, like most Canadians overseas, he and other members of the P.P.C.L.I. had gained "plenty of experience and had a lot of fun."

TO SPEND LEAVES HERE
Other veterans brought back similar stories of generous treatment overseas and of thrilling experiences during the blitz raids. All, however, were unanimous in expressing joy on being back in the city, if only for a short while. They will spend leaves with their families before taking up their new duties in undisclosed centres throughout the country.

Other officers and men understood to have arrived yesterday included Capt. A. B. Morkill, Cpl. S. J. Pecos, Cpl. J. C. Coutts, Cpl. R. S. Campbell, Cpl. J. B. Parsons, Sgt. A. W. Flinton, Sgt. D. S. Armstrong, Pte. H. Plincher, Cpl. E. M. Davies, Cpl. W. McFarlane, Sgt. A. E. Smeeth, Sgt. A. Gorse and Cpl. H. E. Hipwood, all of Victoria; Major A. B. Connaught, C.Q.M.S. Sgt. R. H. Moss, Sanich; A. Cpl. N. Matheson, Glen Lake; Cpl. J. Tytus and Cpl. W. Plinche, Nanaimo; Cpl. E. B. Callaghan, Galiano Island; Cpl. C. A. Graham, Comox; R.S.M. J. M. Green, Port Alberni; Cpl. J. B. Parsons, Malpe Bay; Cpl. W. Sturton, Westholme, and Sgt. A. E. Knight, Chemainus.

Four Vessels Off Bengasi Damaged

CAIRO, March 31 (CP)—British bombers attacked shipping off Bengasi last night, damaging four vessels of about 3,000 tons each, the R.A.F. Middle East Command said today.

Axis raids on Malta were on a reduced scale, and enemy aircraft were chased away from the island four times yesterday. None succeeded in crossing the coast.

PLANNING NOW IS GREAT NEED

Commissioner D. C. Lamb Urges Migration and Settlement on Large Scale

"So far as our Western civilization" migration and settlement on a large and grand scale—developing agriculture and industries," declared Commissioner David C. Lamb, C.M.G., L.D., O.P. of the Salvation Army, who arrived yesterday at the Empress Hotel, and will remain in Victoria over Easter.

Commissioner Lamb, who has served in the Salvation Army over sixty years, arrived here "on his own" to pay family visits in Canada, and the United States now that he is retired.

"The continent of Europe will be very sick and the British Isles will be in the throes of the greatest social, economic, industrial and political upheaval they have ever known. Think of the homes destroyed and uprooted, and the transfer of industries of all kinds. Millions of decent families will perform have to make a fresh start and build new homes for themselves elsewhere, and I can predict with some confidence that hundreds of thousands will desire to settle in the North American continent," he said.

THE ANSWER
"What is to be the answer of her statesmen and her people to this appeal?" Commissioner Lamb asked. "How will you meet it? The answer must be at once generous and adequate. There must be no hesitancy among the workers lest newcomers usurp their positions and create unemployment. This means planning, and planning now."

"In a well-ordered state everyone produces more than he consumes in food, clothes, rent, etc., and the commonwealth is thereby enriched. You cannot develop your national resources without labor, which in the very nature of things creates new markets."

Commissioner Lamb ventured to predict that in the new order there will not be the prolonged and widespread unemployment which "blighted us after the last war. I know that there is a large group of influential statesmen and financiers determined that that will not occur. And in the United States, where I have been traveling for some weeks, I found in responsible quarters a ready disposition to cooperate with the Dominion if she sees her way to embark on large-scale works of development and settlement."

COMMISSIONER HONORED
Eight years ago, the late King George V made Commissioner Lamb a Companion of St. Michael and St. George (C.M.G.). "For services rendered to the Empire," and about the same time the University of Aberdeen conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws "for services to humanity."

On the eve of his official retirement, General Evangelina Booth gave him the highest Salvation Army honor—the Order of the Founder, O.F.—"for outstanding services to the organization."

It was in 1903 that Commissioner Lamb paid his first visit to Canada when he laid the foundations of the department whose conducted parties and special sailings of migrants came to be recognized as an important factor in the immigration of British people to the Dominion.

R.C.A.F. Officer Moved to Ottawa
Squadron Leader Sydney Anderson, D.F.C., who has been in charge of the engineering branch, Western Air Command, has left for Ottawa, to where he has been transferred.

He has served in Victoria since the outbreak of the war, when he left his post as assistant city engineer for Vancouver. He was formerly associated with the Greater Vancouver Water Board.

A veteran of the First Great War, in which he served with the army and air force and in which he won the D.F.C., he resumed his studies after the Armistice and graduated in science from the University of British Columbia.

CITY MEN TO TAKE PART IN BROADCAST
Five Victoria men will be included among broadcasters on the "Letters From Britain" programme which will be heard over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network on Saturday from 10:15 to 10:45 p.m. P.D.T. They are Stoker James Reid, Charles Williamson, Corporal Swetman, Lieutenant Freeman Burrows and Charles Little.

Seven other British Columbians will take part in the programme.

MEIGHEN URGES ALL VOTE YES

Conservative Party Leader Says Passage of Manpower Plebiscite Is Essential

TORONTO, March 31 (CP)—Rt.

servative party leader, urged all Canadians to vote "yes" in the forthcoming plebiscite in a statement issued today.

"Certainly I shall vote 'yes' on the plebiscite," stated Mr. Meighen. "I said so long ago, and I urged Canadians everywhere to vote 'yes.'"

"True, the device of a plebiscite is evasive, dilatory and un-British. It is a disgraceful thing that we should be fussing with a plebiscite at this time."

"But this disgraceful thing is upon us, and we, therefore, have to consider the consequences of a 'yes' vote or a 'no' vote."

"A 'yes' vote will encourage the overseas forces; it will encourage our Allies. Admittedly, what will actually result in Canada no one knows, but there will be results outside of Canada, and these are important."

"On the contrary, a 'no' vote will be disastrous from every standpoint. The very possibility of a 'no' vote makes one shudder and should have made the Government shudder."

Saturday's Raid Was Destructive

BERNE, March 31 (AP)—The Royal Air Force bombing raid on Germany's important Baltic Sea port of Luebeck, last Saturday night, was "the heaviest attack of its kind yet undertaken in the present war," the Berlin correspondent of The Neue Zuercher Zeitung reported today.

He said that while civilian casualties were heavy, they were modest compared with the material damage inflicted and that, although the German High Command acknowledged destruction of a large number of civilian buildings, there could be no doubt that industrial establishments also suffered heavy damage.

WILL ORGANIZE DEFENCE FORCE

Formation of First Unit of Southern Vancouver Island Rangers Is Planned

Steps leading to the formation of a unit whose special duty will be the defence of the Sooke, Goldstream and Jordan River watersheds by skilled hunters and woodsmen will be taken at a meeting called by the Victoria Fish and Game Association for Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting, plans will be made to organize No. 1 unit of the Auxiliary Defence Corps (the Coast Defence Guards) to be known as the Southern Vancouver Island Rangers.

ACT UNDER AUTHORITY

The unit will act under the authority of the Department of National Defence, will be an integral part of the Auxiliary Defence Corps, and its members will be formally enrolled as Reserve Army men, receiving, when called out for active service, the same pay and allowances as the Active Army.

The Rangers will in no way conflict with the Canadian Active Army or the Reserve Army proper, as is the case with other auxiliary defence units, and only those men who cannot reasonably serve in the reserve or active army forces should enroll in the unit.

The Dominion Government will supply the Southern Vancouver Island Rangers with arms where they are needed, and will outfit them with ammunition, steel helmets, arm bands and respirators as supplies become available.

OUTCOME OF EARLY ACTION

Thursday's organization meeting is the outcome of action taken by the Victoria Fish and Game Association in the Spring of 1940, when its members carried out voluntary patrols and collected data, secretly, on the vital defence area of the Sooke, Goldstream and Jordan River watersheds. Only military authorities were informed of the results of the survey.

A plan for the protection of the area was worked out and accepted. This placed special emphasis upon the subjects of sabotage and guerrilla warfare. Details of the Rangers' work will continue to be largely secret, but members are protected as regularly enrolled members of the Reserve Army. All interested persons are invited to attend Thursday's meeting.

LIMITS USE OF VARNISH OILS

Board Order Covers Tung, Oilcica and Perilla Used in Paint Industry

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP)—An order announced tonight by the War time Prices and Trade Board, limits users of tung oil, oilcica oil and perilla oil to 5 per cent of 1940 consumption, effective until May 1.

After that date, it was learned, consumption will be restricted entirely to essential war purposes.

The order, announced by Mrs. Phyllis J. Turner, oils and fats administrator, reflects the effect of war in the Pacific and shipping shortage problems on the paints and varnish industry.

The oils, widely used in that industry, can still be used for Federal maintenance and construction projects, and in the case of tung oil, may be used for inside and outside coatings of containers of food for human consumption.

IMPORTS UNAFFECTED

Existing stocks of paint and varnish material containing the three oils are not affected by the order. Imports also are unaffected, and Mrs. Turner may allow the oils to be used in paints and varnishes for export purposes.

Tung and perilla used to come from China and Japan. Oilcica oil is obtained in limited quantities from Brazil, but lack of shipping space has diminished the flow.

Tonight's announcement said that substitutes for all three oils are being developed, but added that "they are not regarded as satisfactory yet for the special paints and varnishes often required in defence industries."

GERMAN STRATEGY

The month of March has passed without the Germans commencing their much-heralded offensive in any direction. It is true that their resistance to the Russian advance has stiffened and to some extent they have halted the progress that has been going on for some months past. They have launched many bitter counter-offensives but, so far, these have seemingly invariably been beaten, and in some sectors the Russians continue to recapture ground lost during the enemy's advance. There is the possibility that Germany is awaiting the turn of events in the Far East, that there is an undertaking with Japan for a Nazi onslaught in some direction in conjunction with a Japanese movement towards the Near East. It is hardly thinkable that Japan, preoccupied as she is, will at this time elongate her lines of communication farther than the Indian Ocean. Her powers of offensive action have been proved to be great, but there is a limit beyond which she would become too vulnerable because of the gathering strength of the United Nations in the Pacific.

Almost every conceivable move that Germany could make has been the subject of guesswork during the past month. If Germany contemplates some new aggression against any country now neutral there are no particular evidences of forces being massed for such a purpose. Usually information in the nature of a foreword is forthcoming when any such move is in contemplation. Since Germany has not commenced the so often talked of renewed offensive to put Russia out of the war the conclusion must be that the Nazis are not ready, or that their plans have been so badly interfered with by their losses on the Eastern Front that they cannot undertake what Herr Hitler has defined as his policy. If they cannot do that on the Russian front and if they continue to be subjected to the bitterness of the attacks by the Russians it is obvious that they dare not weaken that front for military action on a great scale anywhere else. It may even be that the Nazis are now in a quandary about their forthcoming strategy.

Since Japan entered the War, to be followed by Germany in opening hostilities on the United States, there has been much concentration of U-boat effort to destroy American shipping, and the enemy has reached out across the Atlantic for this purpose. This is designed to slow up the flow of supplies from this continent, both to Great Britain and Russia. Now Germany is directing more attention to the convoys on their way from the British Isles to Murmansk. Germany has discovered that the supplies being sent to Russia are having their influence on the course of the war on the Eastern Front, especially in the matter of airplanes and tanks. It is, indeed, the aid received from Great Britain and the United States that has made the sustained Russian offensive possible.

There is the hope, if not the certainty, that Germany will continue to be so preoccupied in Russia that she will not have the ability, or the forces necessary, for any great military adventure elsewhere. That she is feeling the pinch of the man-power situation is illustrated by her appeals to both Hungary and Rumania for further divisions of troops and her attempt to drag Bulgaria into the War. All this is based on the need of men on the Eastern Front, where Germany's casualties have been so heavy, inflicted both by Russia and Russia's Winter. It can be remembered as well that Germany, in planning any strategy she may have in view, must take into consideration the possibility of an invasion of the Continent of Europe by the British. That prospect, one that will eventually become a reality, keeps Germany restricted so far as new military adventures are concerned.

CONFUSION OF PURPOSE

The Minister of National Defence has said that the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Divisions of the Canadian Army are to be composed of draftees, those already in training and those to be selected by lot up to the age of thirty. He said, in conjunction with this statement, that "nearly all the men needed to fill up the Seventh Division are on hand and have received their four months' basic training." Then, according to a dispatch from Ottawa, Mr. Ralston said that most of the men in the Sixth Division, mobilized some time ago, are men called up compulsorily, and, like those to go into the Seventh and Eighth Divisions, are of the class which cannot be sent overseas under the present law unless they volunteer. In the latter respect Mr. Ralston is wrong. Under the Militia Act all men, drafted or otherwise, can be sent wherever war is being waged if it is considered by the Governor-General-in-Council that an emergency exists.

A dispatch from Calgary seems to indicate a somewhat different policy to that enunciated by the Minister of National Defence. It is to the effect that Brigadier F. M. W. Harvey, D.O.C. M.D. 13, announces the organization of units in that Military District, "including an artillery battery, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and Royal Canadian Engineer units." Altogether between 1,500 and 2,000 men are to be raised in Alberta for these various units which will form a part of the Sixth and recently-announced Seventh Division. An appeal is being made for volunteers. There is a conflict of purpose indicated by this announcement for it does not dovetail with the policy as announced by Mr. Ralston to the effect that the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Divisions are to be made up of draftees.

It is not only in the foregoing matter that there appears to be confusion. The Edmonton Journal points to another feature affecting military matters in saying: "Another apparent contradiction, that has not been explained yet, concerns the use of reserve or militia units. When it was announced a few weeks ago that these units were to be recruited to full strength, it was stated that they would be formed into brigade groups and might be used anywhere in Canada. In fact, one Ontario colonel informed officers of his group that they were 'to be prepared to be rushed to the defence of coastal or other areas.' But Mr. Ralston said that militia units were to be regarded as home guards, and that men of the permissible age groups should be eager to train to defend their own homes. The Minister may have meant 'homes' in the sense of home land but it did not read that way. If Ottawa would clear up existing confusion in these matters, everyone would be better satisfied, and recruiting, whether through volunteering or conscripting, and whether for overseas, home defence, or militia service, would proceed much more smoothly than at present."

THE RIOM TRIAL

It was Germany that instigated the Riom trial with the desire of proving that France should not have made war on the Nazis and only did so through "misguided" statesmanship. The men on trial are Leon Blum, Edouard Daladier, General Gamelin and others who were occupying leading positions in September, 1939. The trial has been going far otherwise that the Germans expected and now there is to be an adjournment from tomorrow until April 15, with the possibility that there will be an indefinite suspension of the proceedings. Vichy welcomed the suggestion of this trial and it is believed it did so with the object of discrediting parliamentary government and building up an argument in favor of the totalitarian administration of Marshal Petain and his colleagues.

Messrs. Blum and Daladier have conducted their defence in a most skillful fashion. They have challenged the legality of the trial, and the latter has asked: "Is the trial to ensure impunity for the generals who capitulated in the midst of the fight? Is it that, in reality, it is directed against the Republic?" Both men insisted on the examination of military leaders, who disclosed conditions that could not be regarded as otherwise than a reproach to themselves. The whole story unfolded was one of unpreparedness. Vichy wanted to show that the French Army was defeated when the capitulation was made. This theory has been exploded by the evidence adduced. On the contrary, whatever French preparedness there was seems to have been the object of sabotage before the War commenced. There were too many people in France imbued with the doctrine of Fascism. Totalitarianism had been at work there for years, undermining democracy, starving defences and, in fact, shaping those conditions which led to the humiliation of the country on the field of battle. It would not be surprising in the least if the Riom trial is discontinued. It is placing both the Nazis and the Vichyites in a most equivocal position, and therefore it has proved bad propaganda.

AT ST. NAZAIRE

More detailed information about the British attack on St. Nazaire shows how contorted were the German communications on the incident. The main objective was reached and undoubtedly heavy damage was wrought on what is Germany's submarine base on the west coast of France. Dock installations were shattered, lock gates destroyed, ships in the harbor pounded by fire and bombs. The whole affair was excellently planned and systematically and audaciously executed. Such an expedition could not be carried out without losses, but the British authorities are satisfied that the results achieved were well worth the casualties. What the episode at St. Nazaire has shown is that whenever the purpose is decreed it will be possible to land an expeditionary force on the Continent. The time for that is not ripe and will not be until sufficient shipping is available, and until, as well, there is an even more definite mastery of the air won by the United Nations over the coastlines of occupied territory. It is significant that British communications should have described the St. Nazaire raid as one of a light variety. It seems to have resulted in very heavy damage to the enemy, even though light forces were employed. It is a hopeful indication of what can be accomplished when greater strength is used. It was a most gallant exploit well worthy to rank with the demolition of the mole at Zeebrugge on April 23, 1918.

A CORRECTION

This newspaper is informed that a wholly erroneous impression was created by the statement that the staffs of workers at the headquarters offices of the Services of the Pacific Command were working on the basis of a five-and-a-half-day-week. This is incorrect. The three office headquarters are manned for the full seven-day-week and for twenty-four hours daily. No possibility exists here of anyone of the three Services being caught unawares by enemy action as was seemingly the case in Japan's felonious attack on Pearl Harbor. The Colonist is glad to make this clear and to express regret for an incorrect impression to the contrary.

BEAUTY

I have seen dawn and sunset on moors and windy hills. Coming in column beauty like slow old tapers of Spain; I have seen the lady April bringing the daffodils. Bringing the springing grass and the soft warm April rain. I have heard the song of the blossoms and the old chant of the sea. And seen strange lands from under the arched white sails of ships. But the loveliest things of beauty God ever has showed to me Are her voice, and her hair, and eyes, and the dear red curve of her lips. —John Massfield.

THE CAUSE BE TRUE

Await the hour, in all battles, if you await the issue, each fighter is prospered according to his right. His right and his might, at the close of the account, are one and the same. He has fought with all his might, and in exact proportion to his right he has prevailed. His very death is no victory over him; he dies indeed, but his work lives. The cause then, fightest for, in so far as it is due, so far and no farther, but precisely so far, is sure of victory. —Carlyle.

SONNET

The expense of spirit in a waste of shame Is lust in action; and till action, lust Is perjur'd murmur; bloody, full of blame, Savage, extreme, rude, cruel, not to trust, Enjoy'd no sooner, but despised straight; Past reason hunted; and no sooner had, Past reason hated, as a swallow'd bait, On purpose laid to make the taker mad; Mad in pursuit, and in possession so; Had, having, and in quest to have, extreme; A bliss in proof, —and proof, a very sore; Before, a joy propos'd; behind, a dream: All this the world well knows; yet none knows well To shun the heaven that leads men to this hell. —William Shakespeare.

All strange and terrible events are welcome; But comforts we despise: our size of sorrow, Proportion'd to our cause, must be as great As that which makes it. —Shakespeare: "Antony and Cleopatra."

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Every day life gives an individual two choices.

And they can apply in many different directions.

Today, for instance, you can be a talker or a doer.

You can be a contributor or a fault-finder.

You can draw men together, or drive them apart.

You can hoe your own row, or gaze at your neighbor's.

You can greet the day with a smile, or frown upon it.

You can pet the dog down the street, or kick it.

You can make way for a child, or break up a game.

You can feed rumor, or stamp it out.

You can encourage our side, or help the enemy.

But there are some things that no individual can do.

No one can call back the written, or spoken, word.

No one can use time that has passed.

No one can recall a sneer, and change it into a smile.

No one can un-kick a dog, once kicked.

These, of course, are all platitudes.

Not because they are true, but because they hurt.

An individual should beware of a truth that hurts.

Any defence against truth is unstable.

It is an effort of the mind to throw off self-accusation.

No one really escapes self-judgment.

They merely pretend that they do.

The ranter, the roarer and the raver are hiding from themselves.

One moment's silence would convince them.

But that would also convict them in their own minds.

So they rant, and they roar, and they rave.

Can you support silence?

There is some hope for you if you can.

For wisdom comes in the silences.

The wisdom of doing, sharing, being.

This, as you see, is another day.

You will be offered two choices everywhere you turn.

Pick the harder one: it is usually right.

But, whatever you do, do not trick yourself.

For that is the only waste of time.

Eternities have been spent at it, and led nowhere.

Plan Pilgrimage To City in April

Between seventy-five and a hundred hotelmen from points throughout the Pacific Northwest will be visitors in Victoria April 10 and 11 at the tenth annual international good-will pilgrimage of the Olympic Peninsula Resort and Hotel Association.

The pilgrimage will be staged in co-operation with the Victoria and Thornley, president, conferred on final arrangements this week with George J. Warren, bureau commissioner. Civic leaders from many points in the Pacific Northwest will be present at the international banquet at the Empress Hotel on April 10.

derstood by everyone with imagination, a grasp of geography and some knowledge of the essential nature of the war.

It is not even true that war, as an art, has changed because its instruments have changed. The German school of war goes back to Clausewitz—a century and a half back, to an age without tanks and planes. Hitler, again in his last speech, mentioned his German master.

—But one can go still farther back—twenty-five centuries, to the eminent Chinese General Sun Tzu, who, in an eight-thousand word essay called "The Art of War," laid down first principles that would hardly be denied in any progressive war college today.

Sun Tzu knew, for instance, that it was better to surround an army than to destroy it; that deception—keeping the enemy guessing—is a first principle; that psychological warfare must not be neglected; that the concentration of the enemy must at all costs be prevented; and that fifth columns could be used to undermine the enemy's fighting strength.

Anybody can understand Sun Tzu, and anybody can understand Mr. Maskey, the Soviet ambassador, who had a few measured words to say in London on Wednesday last. Mr. Maskey thinks that 1942 and not 1943 is the year. The place is Russia, the time is now, and the strategy is not to let the enemy concentrate but to strike him with all we have in the place he least expects it, while he is tied up in the place where he is compelled to be.

Mr. Maskey points out that we know the situation now, the initiative now is ours, and that may not be true a year from now. And in his mind, that fact is more important than whether we will have more tanks and planes in 1943.

Now, what is the psychological strategy of the enemy? Japan is trying to persuade us that she can strike in four points: Australia, India, the Philippines and Siberia. Germany is trying to persuade us that she may strike at the British Isles, in Northern Africa, and through Turkey and Syria at the Near East. And both are trying to create the impression: It's against your interests to help the Russians; they are Bolsheviks.

The net effect of all this is that they hope we will either concentrate our efforts on defending our own shores and the British Isles, or diffuse them in an attempt to defend the whole globe, with the Axis picking the places.

Now, again, on this subject, someone who has never been widely enough read, except by the German geo-politicians, has something to say. That is Sir Halford Mackinder, published in 1919, predicted the whole strategy of this war to a "T."

Sir Halford, like the German geo-politician Haushofer, who unfortunately learned a lot from the scholarly British geographer, foresaw the decline of sea-power as a striking force, the rise of air-power in its place, and the relative advantage for air-power of central land positions on vast land areas.

Also, like the German geo-politician, he thought in global terms and recognized that Europe, Asia and Africa were not three "continents," but the continent, all contiguous by land, and containing two-thirds of the earth's surface and seven-eighths of humanity.

In Sir Halford's global view—and Haushofer's—all the rest of the world including the Americas was merely so many islands off the coasts of the great continent.

He argued that if anyone could drive all other armies off the great continent, the "islands" would have a hard time climbing on it and defeating them. And he put the centre of this continent, the strategic hub of the world, in Russia—around the Black Sea, at the junction between Europe, Asia and Africa.

Sir Halford was not thinking about Bolshevism. He was thinking about geography and the strategy of war.

Today he is more right than he was then. For technical matters also make this area the hub of the world. In this area are the oil supplies for the Germans, the Russians and partly for the British. It is not only that the Germans need oil, whether from Iran or Baku. If the Russians lose Baku, their mechanized armies stand still and Russia can only fight on like the Yugoslavs.

So Hitler must try to get Baku this Spring and Summer. All other things are less important. Other sources of oil are less important. For he cannot win this war if he has a huge mechanized Russian army fighting him on his flanks—even if he gets oil from other Near Eastern sources. All the guess work where the Axis will strike is playing Hitler's game, for we know where he must strike, unless he has taken leave of his General Staff's wits. But we must prepare against it.

Helping Russia is one way. But we must also keep Hitler from concentrating his forces. He knows he must concentrate all his power for the smash against Russia and the Caucasus. And that is precisely what we shouldn't let him do. If he cannot concentrate, Mr. Maskey is right; we shall win the war this year. It won't necessarily be over, but it will be won. And it will be won all over the world—on Asia and in the Pacific.

Early Recovery
Not Maintained
On Wall Street

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP).—The stock market entered March with much of a lion-like appearance and ended the month today with a good imitation of an ailing lamb.

The last lacked on an assortment of modest recoveries at the start of the day's proceedings, but these failed to hold in most instances, and declines of fractions to a point or so predominated at the close.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off 2.4 of a point at 342.4, a new low for this barometer since March 31, 1938. On the month the composite registered a net drop of 2.3 points, biggest for the year to date. Activity picked up a trifle over yesterday's most sluggish session since last May. Transfers totaled 279,890 shares compared with 229,290 Monday.

In the share division American Airlines was off 11-3/4 points to a new 1942 bottom. Prominent losses elsewhere included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Chrysler, Texas Co., International Harvester, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting and Refining, Anaconda, General Electric, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, J. C. Penney and Air Reduction.

Dow Jones averages closed as follows:
Thirty Industrials, 99.54; off .50.
Twenty rails, 24.87; off .16.
Fifteen bonds, 114.42; off .12.
Total sales, 279,000.

WHAT'S DOING ON
THE LOCAL RETAIL
PRODUCE MARKET

Small shipments of outdoor rhubarb are arriving on wholesale row, and according to wholesale officials, more regular shipments are to follow. These are the first arrivals this season and prices are a trifle high.

Washington and local rhubarb continue to be scarce on the row and officials see no relief in sight. Local spinach is more plentiful now and it was stated that there would be no more imports of spinach. Local cucumbers are now on the market.

The price of both house tomatoes decreased during the first of the week, while the market on California lettuce remains firm.

Arrivals on the row yesterday included Washington and local rhubarb, Florida and Washington potatoes, sweet potatoes, California green peas, cabbage and Mexican tomatoes.

MASSEY-HARRIS

SALES ARE HIGH

TORONTO, March 31 (CP).—Increasing participation by the Massey-Harris Co. Ltd. in arms making will tend to offset expected decrease in the company's output of farm implements, President J. S. Duncan told shareholders at the annual meeting here today.

Reporting great expansion of war industries, Duncan noted a growing shortage of needed raw materials.

Company plant capacity was not sufficient to handle all war projects undertaken, he added.

Duncan reported all the company's European plants in enemy hands, one at Weshoven, Germany, and another at Marquette, France, make farm implements.

"Sales in 1941 increased approximately 25 per cent over those of the preceding year," Duncan said.

Volume of business in 1941 was, except for 1929 and 1930 "the highest ever enjoyed by the company."

Business in the Argentine was seriously affected because the company's prosperity there depends entirely on the export market. The Brazilian subsidiary made good progress while business in Chile and Peru expanded.

Duncan disclosed the company is paying special attention to design of machinery to meet the ever-increasing scarcity of farm labor.

As submitted in the House, the increase would have gone to a majority of pensioners, but not to all of them. The pensioners themselves objected to the unevenness of the treatment, and the Government promised a wider interpretation of the statute when the new fiscal year began.

That intention is to be carried out now, with the monthly increase going to all pensioners on the books of the Province, Mr. Pearson intimated. The bonus will begin with the April cheques.

Later in the year the Provincial Government will appoint a pensions commissioner, with headquarters at Vancouver, to administer the Old Age Pensions Act in its amended form. A nominee for the position has not yet been selected, Mr. Pearson said.

Received Gifts

Miss Una Wakelin, a bride-to-be of this month, was honored recently when her associates in the commercial department of the B.C. Telephone Company held a shower at the home of Miss Patricia Wilson, 329 Beach Drive. The rooms were effectively decorated with daffodils, hyacinths and other spring flowers. Upon her arrival, Miss Wakelin was given a corsage bouquet of red roses and white carnations, and then received a pair of blankets and a silver butter dish, which were presented with the good wishes of the assembled friends. Later, a lovely gift of table linen was presented on behalf of the entire department. Games were much enjoyed and a buffet supper was served at the close of the evening. The guests were Mesdames K. Gosse, W. Gornall, C. Burgess, C. Eastwood, W. Ritchie, M. CHAPTER III

"Aren't you going to get used to it?"

"I can't see."

"Good for you! I was afraid you'd be above it."

"Met Above it? Why, I'm not above anything."

"Tut, tut, don't put on airs. You're a many-sided polygon, and one of two of your sides I don't like."

"If I knew which they were I should cultivate them and emphasize them. I don't want to be a many-sided paragon."

"I didn't say—"

"I know what you said, and there wasn't much sense to it. Now, I think you're tired of me and I know I'm tired of you, so if you'll take me back to the dressing-room, I think I'll go home, and you can tell Miss Malcolm I've gone. For I don't want to hurry her off so early."

"Early? It's well after two, nearly three. A nice time for a girl to go home alone."

"Rubbish! I shall take a taxi. I am not afraid."

"Oh, very well! Then, since you are leaving me and are making no plans for a future meeting, I am going to kiss you."

"No, you are not going to kiss me. Men kiss me only when I want them to, and I do not want you to. Do I have to say good night to Mrs. McCleod?"

"As you like. She's over there. It would be a graceful gesture."

"I will obey, if you will just tell me I may see you again, if only to learn if my first impressions need correction."

"I hope they will for I'm quite sure your thoughts of me are not complimentary."

"You think that! Oh, how mistaken you are!"

"Very well, then I think we shall meet again."

"When? Where?"

"That must depend on chance. Don't you dare arrange a meeting. That would spoil the whole game."

And then they were in the presence of Miss Malcolm, and she was quite ready to go home, and Una Deane went with her.

The party was picturesque. Those on the upper floor could look down on the gay scene in the rotunda and those below could look up and see their friends smiling at them over the circular railing.

Lights, flowers and music made the atmosphere pleasurable and most of the guests were enjoying themselves.

Poo Chow, the Chinese butler, came near McCleod and made a slight movement of his eyebrows. Hugh stepped toward him and waited for his message.

Poo Chow had been with the McCleods all their married life, four years, and his work and his attitudes were nothing short of perfection. In a low voice he told his master that Miss Emmy wished to see him.

London quarters intimated that the recaptured point in the Leningrad region might be Schlusselburg, just east of Leningrad, on Lake Ladoga—an important rail connection.

In the south, a Vichy report based on Bucharest information said the Russians launched an offensive today in the Kharzov region from the north, south and east. The attack was preceded by artillery preparation lasting until last midnight.

The Moscow communique tonight reported the sinking of a German U-boat and transport in the Bessens Sea.

PLANES BAGGED

Five Nazi planes were destroyed during the day near Moscow, it said, and listed twenty-five downed yesterday against six Soviet craft lost.

As for the land front, the communique said again during the day there were "no essential changes" in positions.

Stockholm dispatches reported tonight that troops transporting shuttling between Germany and the Eastern Front were carrying thousands of new conscripts called up as recently as January.

One account said 15,000 troops have moved eastward since January 1.

A majority of these reinforcements were said to be behind the lines now awaiting the start of the Nazi Spring offensive.

Girl Guides Record Year Of Activity

War work has been the chief occupation of the Victoria Girl Guides during the past year, according to reports at the annual meeting of the division, held in the I.O.D.E. rooms, Miss H. Leighton, divisional commissioner, in the chair. The visit of H.R.H. Princess Alice, training classes conducted by Miss Hannah and Miss Illingworth, visiting Guide officials from Scotland, and a concentrated effort in war work had been highlights of the past year.

Mrs. Alan Morkill, provincial commissioner, presented a medal of merit awarded by the Dominion Girl Guides to Mrs. F. W. Midgley for long and valuable service to the movement. Mrs. Midgley, who holds the Royal Red Cross for her work in the last war, was divisional commissioner in the Okanagan for many years and was in charge of the Red Cross section of the Jubilee Camp in 1927 at the University School. Since residing in Victoria she has been the hard-working district commissioner for the West Victoria District. Certificates of merit were also presented to Miss L. Ryan, West District captain, and Miss D. Stocken, captain of the 6th West Company.

It was announced that no Guide camp will be held at Sooke this year owing to difficulties of transportation. Queenwood and Ten Mile Point were suggested as possible areas for small camps.

The meeting stood in silent tribute to the late Lady Barnard, first president of the Guides in British Columbia. It was announced that she had left $250 to the Victoria Guides to be devoted to special improvements at the Sooke camp.

Miss Hannah and Miss Illingworth will hold a field day for patrol leaders on April 7 at Norfolk House School. Miss Illingworth gave an address on many aspects of Guiding. She pointed out that local associations and Guides can help the children to gain faith and strength to carry on in the future. Small gifts were presented by Mrs. Midgley on behalf of the Guides to Miss Illingworth and Miss Hannah.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FAVORITE Honey Cake—½ cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup honey, 1 or pastry flour, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup raisins.

This recipe is worked out for use with cake or pastry flour. If bread flour is substituted, only 1½ cups of the bread flour will be required. The amount of milk should be increased to 1 cupful (1 cupful less 2 tablespoons); and the baking powder should be increased to 1½ teaspoons.

To mix the cake, cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, beating between additions. Add the honey and the well-beaten egg, and mix thoroughly. Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add a little of the flour to the raisins, then add the remainder, alternately with the milk, to the butter and egg mixture. Beat well, then add the raisins. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 to 60 minutes. If desired, frost with a plain vanilla frosting. This cake keeps well.

OUTLOOK FOR INDIAN ACCEPTANCE IS POOR

the plan because it would place them in a minority in the Punjab.

UNWILLING TO ACCEPT
NEW DELHI, India, March 31 (AP).—Strong inferential evidence arose today that Britain's final offer of full dominion status to India after the war was about to be rejected because of the unwillingness of the more important Indian political leaders to accept the condition that India's defences must meantime remain in British hands.

This was suggested by these several facts:

1. The working committee of the dominant Indian group, the All-India Congress, had reached the stage of drafting its conclusions—a draft which it was felt would hardly be required unless those conclusions were unfavorable—and was said to be of single mind.

2. Devadas Gandhi, son of the Indian leader, Mohandas Gandhi, declared in The Hindustan Times that the Congress was "bewildered that one so sensible, so honest and so broad-minded as Sir Stafford Cripps should have lulled himself into the false belief that a scheme based on complete control of India's defence by the British Government would prove acceptable to Indian opinion."

CRIPPS NOT TOO HOPEFUL
3. Sir Stafford himself, the British Lord Privy Seal who is undertaking one of the most complex and difficult missions of all history, appeared to have been affected by the atmosphere of depression that was growing here.

In a press conference at which he stated there could be no revision of Britain's determination to retain control of India's defence during the war, Sir Stafford remarked also that he was conducting his remaining interviews at a more rapid pace and they were becoming "slightly exhausting."

Assumption that opponents to the Cripps plan would prevail was strengthened, too, by reports C. R. Rajagopalachari, a former president of the All-India Congress who had previously been understood to favor a compromise, now had expressed disappointment over the defence formula.

Moreover, the working committee of the Moslem League, understood originally to have favored acceptance of Sir Stafford's plan, appeared also to have changed its mind.

The Daily News, a veiled reference to relatives still in Germany and to concentration camps usually brought the deal to rapid fulfillment.

The $39,000,000 thus realized by the German Government, said the paper, thereby established a fund for the operation of spies and saboteurs throughout the United States.

The one mistake in the scheme, the paper added, was the failure of the perpetrators to realize that as they cleared sales through United States banks they automatically left a permanent record with the names and addresses of those with whom they dealt.

Records of such sales already have been subpoenaed from at least one bank, The Daily News asserted.

No Relaxation In Selling Hours

TORONTO, March 31 (AP).—Institution of gasoline rationing in Canada tomorrow will bring no relaxation of the ban on sales after 7 o'clock nightly and on Sundays. It was learned today at the Toronto office of the oil controller. No exception will be made for tourists, a spokesman added.

Little Blue Book As Price Record

Housewives all across the country are now keeping their own price ceiling records with the aid of a little blue book which tucks neatly into the handbag or the shopping basket, according to Miss Byrne Sanders, director of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Consumer Branch.

It is not possible for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to issue a "set list" of prices, because each store set its own price ceiling according to the highest price asked for each commodity sold between September 15 and October 11, 1941. Prices may vary quite a lot for the same commodity at different stores, according to their location and the kind of service they offer to their clients. So it is up to every shopper to make out her own list of prices and check them frequently.

In the event of a rise in price she should consult with her retailer, and ask him the reason for any variations. Unless very detailed household accounts have always been kept, it is unlikely that the price paid for every thing bought in the basic period will be remembered. To many it is a question of beginning now to form the habit of entering all purchases in a little blue book. These can be obtained free from the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa, or from the nearest Women's Regional Advisory Committee.

There are thirteen of these committees across the country. They are in close touch with the board, and work through all the women's clubs and groups to distribute literature, or from the nearest Women's Regional Advisory Committee.

Institute Presents Amusing Programme

In an entertaining programme recently presented, the Victoria Women's Institute Drama Group gave a fine presentation of their accomplishments. The main feature was the comedy play, "Two Tables of Bridge," by Lucy Kennedy Brown and produced by Mrs. Stella Blair.

The bride was ably played by Mrs. T. Hopley; Katie, the maid, Mrs. G. Upward; Lou Allerton, Mrs. George Bowers; Minnie, Mrs. D. Brown; Lil, Mrs. T. Sandler; Blanche, Mrs. V. Springfield; Harriet, Mrs. D. English; Mrs. Pruitt, Mrs. J. Edwards; and Emma, Mrs. A. White. Mrs. F. N. Bridge was stage manager, and Mrs. J. C. Culross the prompter. Miss Jean Kerr sang two delightful songs and her clever dances were much applauded by the audience. The accompanist was Mrs. J. Edwards.

As usual, Mrs. J. Chappell's humorous monologue caused much amusement. Mrs. T. Hopley's comedy songs in character appealed greatly to the audience. At the close of the programme, afternoon tea was served by Mrs. W. Jackson, assisted by her committee.

Clubs-Societies

Chenais Church Guild

The March meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Saint Michael and All Angels Church was held at the home of Mrs. George Phillips.

home of Mrs. George Phillips. Miss Doris Blair, the president, was in the chair. Arrangements were made for a home-coming stall in conjunction with the Anglican Women's Auxiliary tea being held in April. Mesdames F. Thom and R. Finlayson will have charge of the stall. Members of the guild will assist with hospital mending. Mrs. G. L. Read will act as guild convener for this work. Easter decoration of the church will be handled jointly by the Women's Auxiliary and the Guild. Services will be held at 10 a.m. on Good Friday, and on Sunday morning Communion at 7:30, family service at 9 a.m., and evening service at the usual hour. At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. W. H. Jones and Miss L. Hansen.

Beta Sigma Phi

The ritual of jewels test was taken by the pledges of the Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority last evening at the home of the director, Mrs. T. Hammond, 2711 Avebury Street. Because of the test the regular business period was dispensed with, but the cultural programme was held, and Miss Helen Porter conducted the topic, "The Test of Expression." Mr. Maurice Kersey attended the meeting and made recordings of the speaking ability of several of the members. The recordings were immediately played back, and the speaker was able to hear and criticize her own voice as others hear it. Mr. Kersey explained the operation of the recording machine, and his attendance was greatly appreciated by the chapter. The next meeting will be held on April 9 when the results of the test will be announced.

Pro Patria W.A.

Pro Patria W.A. held a five hundred card party in the institute rooms recently when winners were Mrs. A. Hale and Miss H. Hanke. A Vimy tea will be held in the same rooms on Thursday, April 9, for which a splendid musical programme has been arranged. Bingo will be played and there will be a home-cooking stall.

Native Daughters

The weekly sewing meeting of the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Cruickshanks, 1284 Vista Heights, this evening at 8 o'clock. A short executive meeting will be held at 7:30 and all members are asked to be present.

R.C.C.S. Auxiliary

The meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the 11th Fortress Signal Co., R.C.C.S. has been postponed for one week and will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday, April 16, at 8 p.m.

R.C.O.C. Auxiliary

This white flour keeps in the VITAMIN B COMPLEX including at least 400 International Units of Vitamin B₁ (thiamin) per pound

NUTRITIONISTS warn us to make sure we get enough of the B vitamins in our daily intake of food.

But from what foods? We know, for example, that the whole wheat kernel is rich in the vitamin B complex—yet in white "patent" flour most of these important B vitamins are removed. Many other "refined" foods, likewise, are deficient in the vitamins that the whole raw foods possess.

But now, at last, there is a white flour that brings you a good amount of these B vitamins. It is a new kind of white flour, Vitamin B Kitchen Craft Flour, which has most of the vitamin-rich wheat germ kept in.

Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour provides you more thiamin (vitamin B₁) more riboflavin, more of all the members of the vitamin B complex so highly concentrated in the wheat germ. How much more is shown by its content of not less than 400 International Units of B₁ (thiamin) per pound. This is about five times the amount of B₁ in regular white "patent" flour.

Remember, these are not vitamins mixed into the flour. They are the unremoved vitamin B complex natural to whole sun-ripened grain.

Because of the wheat germ, this white flour has an appetizing wheaty flavor that makes breads and cakes tastier than ever. You'll find, too, that Vitamin B Kitchen Craft Flour is not the "chalk" white of "patent" flour, but a richer, creamier-type white.

Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour requires no change in your recipes. It is as fine a white flour as money can produce, milled in Canada from plump Canadian wheat, specially for all-purpose home-type baking (which is quite different from commercial baking).

Guaranteed to give you fine results always—and to keep at least two years under normal storage conditions.

Vitamin B flour is a delicately creamy white, not the "chalk" white of patent flour, yet so slight is the difference in color, you scarcely notice it at first glance. But what a difference in vitamin content! Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour holds about five times as much vitamin B₁ as does regular white flour!

MICKEY ROONEY
NOW AT CAPITOL

Judy Garland in Feminine Lead—
"Babes on Broadway" Their
Seventh Picture Together

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland are reunited for the seventh time in M-G-M's big new musical "Babes on Broadway," which will open today at the Capitol Theatre.

This merry song and dance hit tells the story of the scores of youngsters who invade New York annually in the hopes of winning their "break" on the stage. Mickey and Judy, as Tommy Williams and Penny Morris, are two of these youngsters who, becoming discouraged at the lack of opportunity, finally receive recognition by staging their own show.

Mickey not only acts, dances and sings, but impersonates Carmen
Miranda, Harry Lauder and Richard Mansfield, while Judy Garland's performance is highlighted by her impersonation of Sarah Bernhardt doing one of her most famous roles.

MODERN COMEDY
ON ATLAS BILL

Bob Hope and Vera Zorina in Hilarious
Story, "Louisiana Purchase"
—Victor Moore Stars

The New Orleans Mardi Gras and its climactic Beaux Arts Ball, famed throughout the world for brilliant color and gaiety, come to life in a flashing, gorgeous carnival in Paramount's Technicolor comedy musical extravaganza, "Louisiana Purchase," which will open today at the Atlas Theatre.

A modern comedy, "Louisiana Purchase," adapted to the screen from the successful Broadway girl-comedy and -musical show, whisks through a hilarious story depicting Bob Hope as a political novice, Vera Zorina as the beauty who helps to dance him out of his troubles, and Victor Moore as the crusading comic investigator.

In featured roles are Irene Bordoni, Oona Drake, Raymond Wal-bond, Maxie Rosenbloom and the Louisiana Lovelies.

CADET A talent-filled cast,
THEATRE discerning direction and a gay, sophisticated screen play studded with some of the most delightful singing and dancing seen on the screen for some time, are combined in
"Lady, Be Good," which will end tonight at the Cadet Theatre. Ann Sothern, Eleanor Powell and Robert Young head the cast.

DOMINION Plenty of action, a THEATRE new setting and an above-average supporting cast combine to make "A Yank on the Burma Road," which is now showing at the Dominion
Theatre, an outstanding picture.
The Burma Road provides the background for the story which stars Barry Nelson, Laraine Day and features Stuart Crawford and Keye Luke.

mings and William Lundigan.

YORK "I Take This Woman," THEATRE starring the team of Spencer Tracy and Hedy Lamarr, will be seen for the vivid story of metropolitan life involving the drama of a young doctor and a society beauty. Dulles Franzi has the principal supporting role.

QUARTETTE STARS WITH
ABBOTT AND COSTELLO

The Merry Macs, already stars of the radio and phonograph disc fields, are headed for screen stardom as well as a result of their exceptional performances in Universal's new Abbott and Costello laugh film, "Ride 'Em Cowboy." The new comedy will be presented as the feature picture at the midnight show programme at the Plaza Theatre on Thursday night.

Brought to Hollywood by Fred
Allen, the quartette filled a brief singing spot in the Allen-Jack Benny co-starrer, "Love Thy Neighbor."
They made good as actors and recently they were assigned to featured positions in "Ride 'Em Cowboy," in which they sing several tunes in addition to filling imposing comic parts.

WILL REGULATE TRADE SCHOOLS

Advertising to Be Controlled in New Provincial Regulations

Additional regulations for trades schools were announced by the Provincial Government yesterday, including a scale of registration fees extending from $5 to $25 per annum, depending upon the number of subjects taught.

All trades schools are to be debarred from advertising in the "Help Wanted" columns, from guaranteeing jobs or selling their courses on the basis of promises of employment.

Premises are to be inspected for health, sanitary and safety arrangements.

Home study and correspondence courses will be regulated as to the amount of the course submitted to students at any one time, and the value of the completed course must be stated, so that refunds for incom-pleted tuition can be obtained. The Minister of Labor may demand examination of school advertising matter.

Many other requirements were announced in a four-page set of regulations, which will probably be cascaded. The new regulations were made under the Trades' Schools Regulation Act, as amended at the last session.

What Today Means

"ARIES"

If April 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m.; from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m.; and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

On April 1, "When proud-pledged April, dressed in all his trim, hath put a spirit of youth in everything," show that you have enough of that self-same spirit to enable you to accept gracefully any April fool joke that may be played on you. However, it will be well to confine your immortality to pranks that will cause no mental or physical distress. Be unusually observant on this date, particularly about the things you eat and drink.

CITY AIRMAN
NOW MISSING

Fit. Lt. W. B. Brown, Who Made Unique Flight, Lost During Operations

FLY-LEUT. W. B. BROWN

Flight Lieut. William Beaumont Brown, who only last month received a promotion in recognition of his remarkable feat in bringing his Hampden bomber home on one engine after a raid over Germany, is reported missing after operations over enemy territory on the night of March 27, according to word received by his father, T. A. Brown, 2630 Dalhousie Street.

Born in Victoria twenty-one years ago, Flight Lieut. Brown received his wings and commission in April, 1941. Two months later he went overseas and first engaged in active bombing operations in October.

His unique feat in bringing home his disabled aircraft on one engine is believed to be the longest flight ever made under similar circumstances. On reaching their target they found their bomb doors jammed. Twice, in the face of intense flak, Flight Lieut. Brown and his crew made runs over the target, but the doors refused to budge. On the third run the doors opened and the load was dropped. But their troubles were not over. Another barrage of anti-aircraft fire left one engine unserviceable and a petrol tank was pierced. They made the return trip of 300 miles on one engine and landed at their airfield with petrol tanks virtually empty.

Since that flight, in which they were forced to throw away their guns and whatever other equipment detachable in order to lighten their load, Flight Lieut. Brown took part in the Battle of Dover Strait against the German U-boats and the German navy.

Vividly Recalls
Japanese Attack
On Pearl Harbor

An experience she "would not like to see repeated" was the bombardment of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese. Mrs. Frank Wallis, wife of the British consul in Hawaii, said at the Empire Hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Wallis came here to visit her son, Kenneth, who has been a pupil at Shawinigan Lake School since 1939. Ordinarily, she said, he spends his holidays in Honolulu, but this year it was out of the question, so Mrs. Wallis "did the next best thing" and came here to visit her son.

The enemy raid upon Pearl Harbor was "most uncomfortable while it lasted," she said.

PRESENTATION MADE
TO A.R.P. INSTRUCTOR

At the first aid class in the Municipal Hall, Esquimalt, recently, Reeve A. Lockley presented Instructor P. Freeman with a cheque on behalf of the town council, as a token of their appreciation.

In making the presentation, Reeve Lockley said they were pleased at the great interest shown and attendance maintained, due to the good work of the instructor.

In reply Mr. Freeman said he felt it to be his duty to do all he could when called on, especially during this time of emergency.

Following the examinations, which will take place Wednesday and Thursday evenings this week, Mr. Freeman will give a short course on roller bandaging to those of the class who may be called on for duty at the A.R.P. first aid points in Esquimalt.

CONDITION OF CITY
FLYER IS IMPROVED.
FATHER IS ADVISED

The condition of Sgt.-Pilot James Assestine, Victoria airman seriously injured while on active service with the R.C.A.F. in England, is slightly improved, according to a cable received by his father, W. J. Assestine, 1149 Faithful Street, yesterday.

The cable was sent by W. A. McAdam, agent-general for British Columbia in Great Britain. Mr. McAdam advised that he planned to go from London to visit Sgt.-Pilot Assestine in hospital.

The Victoria flyer, who is twenty-two, has been in England since last October, where he has been in charge of a Wellington bomber.

E. W. GRIFFITH
NOW PROMOTED

Miss Laura Holland, in Welfare Service, Will Come To Victoria

Reorganization in the Department of Labor under which E. W. Griffith, relief administrator, takes a step up and other changes in personnel are effected, was announced yesterday by Hon. G. S. Pearson. Mr. Griffith will retain the administration of relief, but will also become assistant deputy minister of labor, under Adam Bell.

Miss Laura Holland, a senior welfare worker on the Mainland, will be transferred to Victoria, to act in an advisory capacity in the administration of welfare matters.

Percy Ward, of the department, has been appointed chief inspector of licensed welfare institutions, with Miss E. Pringle as his assistant, and offices in Vancouver.

The position of director of social welfare, left vacant when Dr. George P. Davidson accepted a Federal post as director of the National Welfare Council, is not being filled.

Minor reorganization may follow the change in Affairs under the Provincial Secretary's Department, with the intention later to divide the province into several zones for the administration of welfare. Mr. Pearson said.

Says Peace, Home Life and Other Principles of Civilization Will Be Resurrected

"I believe in the resurrection of nature, the resurrection of peace, the resurrection of homes where prayer is wont to be made and the resurrection of all that is good and true in any war," Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, pastor of First United Church, told the Kiwanis Club in an Easter Sunday address to its luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"After 4,000 years of war, we had twenty years of the League of Nations. The League of Nations was a disappointment, but we ought not to despair," Mr. McLeod said. Success, he added, has been the god of the modern world, but it is still true that "whoever saves his life shall lose it."

"You men," he told his audience, "are referred to as hard-headed businessmen. I don't think you are so hard-headed, and I think you are tender-hearted. The central thing in all that we are striving for comes from Jesus, and we should not apologize for him. I believe in the resurrection of truth, which at present seems to be crushed to earth."

Mr. McLeod was introduced by Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse, and thanked on the club's behalf by Rev. J. L. W. McLean. A. W. Trevellick sang three vocal solos.

PIPERS TO MEET

A meeting of the Vancouver Island Pipers Society will be held on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Britannia Branch rooms, 715 View Street, when the annual reunion with the British Columbia Pipers' Association from the Mainland will be held.

Two competitions will feature the programme, in which visiting pipers and members of the society will take part. Highland dances will be given by Walter Burgess.

LABOR MEN ASK
UNIFIED SYSTEM

Co-ordinated Ambulance Service for Victoria and District Is Proposed

A proposal for a co-ordinated ambulance service for Victoria and surrounding municipalities was received by the Esquimalt Council Monday night, from the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

A letter from the executive committee of the Trades and Labor group said: "It has been drawn to our attention that, on several occasions, injured persons have been left to lay on the street for more or less lengthy periods while inquiries are made as to who or what municipality shall bear the cost of ambulance service, and we have remembrance of an occasion when a person with a fractured leg was eventually transported to hospital in a police side-car."

The letter suggested setting up a unified ambulance service in which the city and surrounding municipalities would all participate.

The Esquimalt Council voted to write the Trades and Labor group asking for further information, and requesting a representative be sent to discuss the matter with the council at its next meeting.

HYDRANT CHARGES UP

A request for extension of the exemption granted the Queen of Peace Church, by municipal by-law, was received by the council from Rev. Father J. B. Jullien.

The council voted to introduce at the next meeting a by-law amending the present exemption by-law.

A petition from 112 residents for council action in securing an extension of the B.C. Electric bus route from the foot of Lamson Street west along Munro Street to Armistead Street, Beavley Avenue and Adm. Road, was referred to the B.C. Electric Railway Co.

The petition stated that the extension would enable many people, at present using private cars, to use buses in traveling to and from business and shopping districts, thereby conserving gasoline and rubber to further the war effort.

BETTINA WINS
CLOSE FIGHT

Punches His Way to Victory Over Gus Dorazio in Philadelphia Ring

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Cuffing his opponent around in the last round with a two-fisted attack, Heavyweight Melio Bettina won a ten-round decision over the veteran Gus Dorazio before a capacity crowd of 9,000 at the arena tonight. Until the last stanza the fight was virtually even.

At the end Dorazio, Philadelphia Italian, who at 190, outweighed the former light-heavyweight champion from Beacon N.Y., by five pounds, was stumbling around the ring, missing wild swings, while Bettina stung him with lefts and rights. The decision was unanimous.

The southpaw Bettina, who wants a title fight with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis some time this Summer, absorbed considerable punishment before coming out on top. He was on the verge of a knockout in the sixth round when Dorazio smashed home a terrific right that drove Bettina into the ropes. The crowd let out a roar as Bettina's leg sagged and he grabbed Dorazio to hold on. Gus, a 3 to 1 underdog in the betting, tried hard for the kill, but Bettina recovered and fought back savagely. At the bell Dorazio landed a hard right to the stomach that hurt, and Bettina showed it as he stumbled to his corner.

Dorazio never again came close to victory, although in the first and eighth rounds he missed two savage rights that had "knockout" written all over them.

WIN CANADIAN FOOTBALL CUPSt. Louis College Gridders
Defeat Vic High in Local
Final—Will Travel

Uncorking their scoring punch in the last half after being held scoreless for two quarters, Brother Whalen's St. Louis College Canadian footballers turned back Cec Fletcher's Vic High gridders, 12-0, in the local final of the Interscholastic Canadian Football League at Central Park.

The triumph enabled the Collegians to retain possession of the V.H.S. Alumni Cup, emblematic of the championship for another season, and also gave them the right to travel to Vancouver to oppose Kitallano High School in the British Columbia final.

Played under ideal conditions and on a perfect gridiron, the fixture attracted 500 enthusiastic fans to Central Park, the scene of the struggle.

Collegians won the bitterly contested game in the second half. Vic High had a slight edge in the first two quarters on some good breaks, but failed to take advantage of them.

The newly crowned champions made their initial score in the third quarter. Gaining possession of the ball in opposition territory they came up with their first passing offensive of the day and took play to within two yards of Vic High's goal. On a fake pass, Fullback Fred Harrison plunged through the centre and scored. Danny O'Connell's kick was good and St. Louis College showed in front, 6-0.

The final quarter was only a few minutes old when Reg Clarkson took the ball on a quarterback sneak and raced over the Vic High line, going ten yards for a major score. Danny O'Connell again converted.

Vic High made downs time and again for the remainder of the game, but the stubborn defence set up by College was just a little too tough, and they never really became dangerous. Sid Anderson refereed.

Oppose Clippers
At Nanaimo Rink

Lieutenant Warburton, manager of the Army hockey sextette, announced last night that he will take a services club to Nanaimo, Saturday, to play an exhibition game with the Nanaimo Clippers, Western Canada intermediate champions. The fixture is slated for 8 o'clock.

The local squad will include players from the Navy, Army and Air Force. It is quite possible that a return game between the two clubs may be arranged at the Willows Arena at a later date.

BIG FIELD
WILL STARTRunners From Navy, Army
And Royal Air Force to Compete Friday

Approximately forty-five well-trained and hardy men are all ready to face the starter in the big road race, which will be staged Good Friday morning with competitors from the navy, army and Royal Air Force going after the honors. It will start from in front of the Y.M.C.A. building on Blanshard Street, down Yates and along Douglas to Dallas Road. The field will then turn into Cook Street, along Park Boulevard, then past the football field on Heywood Avenue to Rupert Street, thence to Humboldt to Blanshard and back to the "Y" to the finishing line. The distance is about three and a half miles.

Bernie Schwengers, one of Victoria's great athletes of another era will be the official starter, and will get the large list of contenders off at 10:30. To the winner will go the handsome trophy, which has been donated by Mr. Schwengers, manager of McLeum, McPeckley & Prior, while five other prizes will be distributed at the finish.

List of entries from the Royal Air Force is as follows: Dickson, Diwell, Abbott, Ward, Rudge, Jones, Shaw, Seward, Mathews, McCall, Evans, Windmill, Stepanian, Barker, and Greenhalgh. From the Army there will be Magnuson, Crerar, Toffan, Glavendon, Tomczyk, Field, Pauloff, Durrell, Astrop, Brooks, Jessop, Beech, Zrobach, Wilson, Lillis and Stang. It was announced yesterday that the field entered from the Royal Canadian Navy will be announced some time today.

BOB RICHARDSON HAS FINE SCORE

Firing with the accuracy and determination of a veteran, Bobby Richardson recorded the sensational score of 50.3 out of a possible 50.5 on the 100-yard range on the Six-Mile House grounds at the weekly shoot. This is the best score ever posted during these competitions, and it is doubtful that any of the competitors will even come close to it. The tournament will last another two weeks and then the finals will be run off.

In second place came Jack Roach with a total of 49.2, while Cecil Burgess was a close third with 49.1. The following marksmen have qualified for the finals: Bobby Richardson, Fred Moore, Jack, Cliff and Henry Roach, Bob Marshall, Joe Oibault, Cecil and Bud Page. Bill Lucas is leading the rest of the field by 26.3 points.

Richardson's fine target is now on display in the window of Wilson & Lenfesty's, Government Street.

Final—Will Travel

Uncorking their scoring punch in the last half after being held scoreless for two quarters, Brother Whalen's St. Louis College Canadian footballers turned back Cec Fletcher's Vic High gridders, 12-0, in the local final of the Interscholastic Canadian Football League at Central Park.

The triumph enabled the Collegians to retain possession of the V.H.S. Alumni Cup, emblematic of the championship for another season, and also gave them the right to travel to Vancouver to oppose Kitallano High School in the British Columbia final.

Played under ideal conditions and on a perfect gridiron, the fixture attracted 500 enthusiastic fans to Central Park, the scene of the struggle.

Collegians won the bitterly contested game in the second half. Vic High had a slight edge in the first two quarters on some good breaks, but failed to take advantage of them.

The newly crowned champions made their initial score in the third quarter. Gaining possession of the ball in opposition territory they came up with their first passing offensive of the day and took play to within two yards of Vic High's goal. On a fake pass, Fullback Fred Harrison plunged through the centre and scored. Danny O'Connell's kick was good and St. Louis College showed in front, 6-0.

The final quarter was only a few minutes old when Reg Clarkson took the ball on a quarterback sneak and raced over the Vic High line, going ten yards for a major score. Danny O'Connell again converted.

Vic High made downs time and again for the remainder of the game, but the stubborn defence set up by College was just a little too tough, and they never really became dangerous. Sid Anderson refereed.
